

First Choice Care welcomes ECT4Health to the family

First Choice Care is excited to partner with ECT4Health a training and education provider offering a wide range of educational programs to nurses, students, and paramedics, including face-to-face, online, and education in holiday destinations.

ECT4Health was set up by nurses who live and breathe the industry and are now giving back to their nursing community by offering education that is fun and affordable.

First Choice Care's partnership with ECT4Health enables us to offer courses for First Choice Care agency nurses and midwives so you can up-skill, maintain CPD points, and continue to develop and grow in your nursing career. It can be difficult to keep on top of education when you are working at multiple jobs or not working directly for a hospital that provides education, so we want to make it as easy as possible for our nurses and midwives to get access to high-quality education.

ECT4Health offers courses in:

- Wound Care
- Medication Management
- Diabetic Nursing
- Management of the Acute deteriorating patients
- Suturing
- Plastering
- Trauma
- & Much more

These courses are face-to-face or online in a wide range of locations across Australia. ECT4Health also offers training in beautiful settings across the country including the Christmas in July Seminar held in Cairns this year – you could use the time for a bit of relaxation or a family holiday.

First Choice Care and ECT4Health are here to help with all your educational requirements so click here to find how what exciting courses are on offer in 2021.
